

Dear Guests to the Strážnice Festival,

You are cordially invited to the 77th International Folklore Festival in Strážnice and the 40th anniversary year of Children's Strážnice Folklore Festival. I hope that the two sevens will be a lucky number and will help to meet all the expectations we associate with our festival after a two-year break. It will certainly be the joy of personal encounters with friends, musicians, dancers and singers who create the unique atmosphere at our festival. In the past two years, we tried to mediate such encounters – albeit virtually – together with the iFolklor team, at least through broadcasts on Facebook and on the festival's YouTube channel, which were followed by broadcasts on Noe TV and Czech Television.

This year, however, we will finally meet live here and will together remember several significant anniversaries. First of all, it is the 100th anniversary of the birth of Vítězslav Volavý (1922 – 1984), a personality who was not only at the birth of the Strážnice Festival but also of the organizing institution that after several transformations has become the present-day National Institute of Folk Culture. Vítězslav Volavý, an ethnographer and above all an outstanding musician, will be remembered in several musical performances, as well as his peer – the editor of the folklore broadcast of the Czech Radio Brno, dulcimer player and long-time collaborator of the Strážnice Festival Jaromír Nečas (1922 – 2015). The ethno-choreologist Zdenka Jelínková (1920 – 2005), whose 100th birth anniversary was to be honoured by the programme Along the Paths of Folk Dance already two years ago, also made a significant contribution to the development of our festival. In addition, two "Corona years" have brought a lot of other anniversaries which we will commemorate in the Sunday programme Jubilarians of the Times of Corona.

The performances of foreign ensembles that come to Strážnice through the mediation of the worldwide organisation CIOFF (The International Council of Organizations of Folklore Festivals and Folk Arts) are a "fixed star" of our international folklore festival. The performances called From Landscapes beyond the Horizon will present ensembles from Slovakia, Romania, Serbia, Georgia, and Ukraine. A separate programme Behind the Bohemian Mountains is dedicated to musical folklore of the Lusatian Sorbs.

Every year, the IFF Strážnice offers its guests a variety of performances, which certainly satisfy visitors of all ages and with diverse taste. For this year, almost fifty musical, dance, children's, educational, entertaining and interactive performances have been prepared. All of them take place in a unique festival precinct – in the chateau park, in the open-air museum, in chateau rooms, and in town streets.

There is nothing better than to spend the last June weekend in Strážnice, when its old gates open again to welcome singing, dancing, and other expressions of folk culture.

PhDr. Martin Šimša, Ph.D.
Director of the National Institute of Folk Culture
